THE TEAM.

The long-range rifemen competing for places in the American team which is to shoot the return match with the Irish riff.men on the Raheny Range. Dublin Bay, Ireland, in the latter part of June, found yesterday the most irritating wind that ever occurs at Creedmoor, and their scores were materially affected. Captain Bodine, the captain of the team, closely observed every change, and proved the value of his capacity as a "coach" by the good scores made under the prevailing circumstances. Only six of the competitors were on the range, the others having decided to risk their chances with their scores already made. To add to the discouragement of some of the marksmen, Mr. Scott found that his cartridge shells were badly corroded and imperfect, and thany of them burst while shooting from 800 yards. He obtained new shells, which, after reloading, secured him better success, Mr. Kathbone also had his rifle disabled, which interrupted the shooting an hour or more. Mr. Farrow broke the main-spring to his rifle at the 1,000 yards range, and he resumed his shooting again by missing the target. The several interruptions delayed the finish until nearly sundown, and the riflemen did not reach the city until a late hour. The following were the scores made in order of merit:

At a meeting of the competitors last evening, the following men were selected as the tram proper: W. Milton Farrow, H. F. Clark, S. J. Scott, Homer Fisher, Rausom Rathbone, J. F. Brown; W. H. Jackson, reserve. The team was organized and the conditions under which the men go to Ireland were signed by all. Other preliminary matters were also arranged. As Mr. Gerrish has given assurance that he will go with the team if his health will permit, and L. C. Bruce will go if he can get away from his business, an invitation will be extended to them. Future competitions in Ireland will determine who will be the team and reserves. A match will also be shot with the British team if an official challenge is given. The team and the reserves will practice at Creedmoor on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, and will sail for Europe on June 5.

R. C. Coleman has been appointed as adjutant. He was one of the American-Irish team in 1875, and a reserve of the team of 1877. All the shooters take the new back position when firing, which is similar to the Fuiton position, except that the sight is removed from the grip to the heel of the stock, thus giving a longer range of sight. The butt of the stock is also placed under the arm-pit, and the left hand grasps the grip of the stock, instead of passing under the head and grasping the butt. Thus the concussions on the side of the head after firing are avoided. At a meeting of the competitors last evening, the

SUMMONING CONFEDERATE OFFICERS. GENERAL WARREN'S REQUEST CAUSING A LITTLE STIR IN THE COURT.

STIR IN THE COURT.

The Warren Court of Inquiry met yesterday at Governor's Island after an adjournment of two days during the visit to New-York of the Secretary of War. General R. M. Brinton, of Philadelphia, was recalled and cross-examined by Major Gardner relative to his statement that General Sheridan placed General Griffin in command of the Fifth Corps a short while after Ayres had carried the key to the enemy's position, and not later in the day, as General Sheridan himself has declared. General H. Richardson, who was Lieutenant-Colonel in command of the 7th Wisconsin Regiment in 1865, was then sworn. At the battle of Five Forks, his regiment was attached to Kellogg's brigade of Crawford's division. His narrative of what he saw and did on April 1 was in many particulars a restatement of the testimony of General Kellogg. E. B. Cope, of West Chester Penn, who in 1865 was in the staff of General Warren, was the next witness. His testimony was in contradiction of General Sheridan's allegation that General Warren allowed the line of battle to be broken and did'not exert himself to restore it.

Major Langdon stated that General Warren

summonses were issued for Muniora, Corse, Mayo and Wood.

Colonel W. J. Denslow, of Brooklyn, who in 1865 was Lieutenant-Colonel of the Kinety-First Regiment New-York Volunteers, was the last witness called. In March and April, 1865, his regiment formed part of Kellogg's brigade of Crawford's division. His testimony was in corroboration generally of that of General Richardson.

The Court will meet Monday morning at 11 chelok.

SHOT BY HER LOVER.

SHOT BY HER LOVER.

Coroner Nolan held an inquest yesterday in the case of Mrs. Mary Ellen Stokes, who was killed May I at No. 180 Second-st., Brooklyn E. D., by Edward Kennedy. Mrs. Stokes was the nicce of Mrs. Mary Taggert, who kept the boarding-house in which Kennedy lived. Mrs. Stokes was only nineteen years of age, and had been married about a year. She had left her husband four or five weeks before, and had gone to live with her aunt. Kennedy paid her much attention, and on April 15 asked her to marry him. She refused, telling him that she was 'already married. He then tried to shoot himself, but 'she kprevented him. The next day he shot himself in the left side. He was taken to the Eastern District Hospital, where he soon recovered. While there 'Mrs. Stokes visited and kissed him. What occurred between them on May I is not known. They were together in the parlor when reports of a pistol were heard. It was found that Kennedy had shot Mrs. 'Stokes in the head twice. He also attempted to shoot himself.

Testimony was given yesterday by Mrs. Taggert and others. Kennedy, who is twenty-one years of age, refused to make any statement. The jury's verdiet declared that Mrs. Stokes's death was caused by pistol shot wounds from a pistol in the hands of Kennedy, and he was committed to the Raymond Street Jail to await the action of the grand jury.

ASKING A KISS IN HIS COFFIN.

Further facts were obtained yesterday in reference to George H. Fuller, the young man who committed suicide at East New-York on Thursday. He left a note for W. P. Ciyde, stating that he had taken twenty grains of morphine. In his diary were entries that on May 10 he took sixty grains of chloral without effect, on May 11, 100 grains of chloral, and on May 17. 20 grains of morphine without effect. There was also a letter to his father and mother, saying that when he went to New-Lois he "turned over a new leaf, and fought against the devil and for God." He was truly happy in his new life, until trouble began to pour in upon him. Among his papers were several notes from a Miss Hordenpy refusing to accompany him to places of amusement, etc. There was also the following letter addressed to her, bearing oate May 17:

For addressed to her, bearing cate May 17:

I sent you a note a few days ago, asking you to answer, as it would be the last letter that I would ever reserve, and you took no notice of II, but treated it with fillent contempt, when one word from you would have made me die happy; but instead I die unhappy, and may God forgive you as freely as I forgive you, and I would ask a dying favor of you, only I am afraid it would receive the same consideration as the last, and the favor would be, that you imprint one kiss upon my lips when I lay cold in death in my collin. May God grant that no one may ever torture your dying hours as mine were made unhappy by your actions.

Mr. Fuller's body was removed yesterday to his father's home, No. 300 Bridge-st., Brooklyn.

SUSPICIONS OF MURDER. John Kelly, a maker of syrups and bitters, was found dead in front of a basement at No. 336 East Twenty-sixth-st. early yesterday morning. An autopsy showed that his neck had been broken, and the police believed that he fell while intoxicated. Kelly had his workshop in the basement near which he was found, and no one in the neighborhood knew where he lived. Some of the inmates of adjoining tenements believed that he was robbed and murdered, as nothing was found in his pockets yesterday.

CONVICTION OF A RECKLESS DRIVER. The trial of Wm. H. Laner, of One-hundred-and sixty-third-st. and Delmonico-place was consluded yesterday in the General Sessions. On October 24 while Merris Healy, a laborer, living at Eighty-second-st. and Third-ave., was crossing third-ave. at One-hundred-and-nineteenth-st., he was run over by an express wagon driven by Laner, and so badly injured that he died in a few hours. Laner drove rapidly away, although called on to stop. He was indicted for man-slaughter. The trial occupied two days. The jury rendered a verdict of manslaughter in the fourth degree. The prisoner was remanded for sentence by Recorder Smyth.

BRIDGE BONDS AND CHARITY FUNDS. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment yesterday directed Controller Kelly to issue bonds for $416,666 66 to continue the work on the Brooklyn Bridge. Alderman Morris declared that the money would be thrown away. He had expressed his opinion in regard to the outlays on the structure, and the millions expended on it. He did not appear there as an obstructionist, and as the law provided for such an expenditure of course he would vote for it.

The following sums were appropriated from the

the law provided for such an expenditure of course he would vote for it.

The following sums were appropriated from the Excise Fund: St. James House for the support of lifty-two children, $862; Institution of Mercy, 943 children, $14,960 57; St. Joseph's Asylum, $2,240; Ladies' Deborah Nursery and Child's Protectory, $2,874; Mission of the Immaculate Virgin, $6,150; St. Stephens' Home for Children $2,454; Hebrew Sheltering Guardian Society, $1,483 72.

The Controller presented a report adverse to the capplication of the Commissioners of Charities for an increase of the appropriation to their department. They had asked the increase on the ground that the advances in the prices of staple articles render it necessary. The report states that a comparison of prices of articles at the beginning of each year hardly affords a basis for judgment for the entire year. Prices fluctuate materially; while those of some leading articles like flour, sugar and staple dry-goods may have been higher in the early part of the year, they were more likely to decline than to continue at the higher rates. The Controller's report was adopted.

John A. Foley, counsel for the Department of Buildings, Frederick Diaper, Deputy-Superintendent of Buildings, and R. D. Hatch, associate counsel, appeared before the Mayor yesterday to answer the citation to Superintendent Dudley to explain the apparent discrepancy between the original and the copy of certain plans and specifications. Superintendent Dudley was not present. The question turned on whether the plans called for walls twenty-four or thirty-four feet in height for the Madison Avenue end of the Madison Avenue Garden. The copy and the original papers were shown. Under astrong glass, the figures seemed to have been altered from thirty-four to twenty-four both in the original and the copy, and those who examined it were forced to admit this. The question whether or not the Department of Buildings violated the building law in allowing twelve-inch walls to be carried to a greater height than twenty-four feet turns on whether the plans called for walls twenty-four or thirty-four feet in height. The matter will be further investigated.

EFFECTS OF THE MAY DROUTH.

GREAT NEED OF RAIN-INJURIES TO FARMS AND GARDENS-A RAIN-FALL AND A COLD WAVE EX-

anxious farmers and gardeners and hot, dusty city people that yesterday there was a storm centre in the Southwest which was moving in a northeast direction. The unusually dry weather since the beginning of this mouth-only nine one-hundredths of an inch of rain hav. ing fallen at the Equitable Building, and only one one hundredth of an inch having been reported at Central Park-has been subject of much comment. The gar-dens in the towns adjacent to New-York have felt the drouth severely, and unless rain comession the fruit crop will be greatly reduced in quartity and inferior in quality. Throughout New-Jersey the erape vines are showing the effects of the heat, and are sadly in need of rain. The drouth, however, has not been confined to the vicinity of this city, but has exentertained that the hay crop will be poor in size and quality unless rain comes.

Throughout the South and West rain was reported yesterday. The fall, in fractions of an inch, for the eight hours up to 7 a. m., Washington time, was as follows: Cincinnati, 44₁₀₀; Indianapolis, 11₁₀₀; Louisville, 25₁₀₀; Mobile, 47100; Montgomery, 38100; Nashville, 25100; New Orleans, 5₁₀₀: Key West, 50₁₀₀; and Oswego, 1₁₀₀. There is also a cold wave expected from the West. Yestermerning the thermometer was 45° at Caicago,

His testimony was in contradiction of General Sheridan's allegation that General Warren allowed the line of battle to be broken and didnot exert himself to restore it.

Major Langdon stated that General Warren of General Sheridan's officers of the Confederate Army: Generals Fitzofficers would be summoned to testify in the little officers would be summoned to testify in the little family trouble of Federal officers; he did not think it appropriate. General Hancock said the Court would like to know what it was intended to prove by such witnesses, and Mr. Stickney explained that it was necessary for General Warren to establish the strength of the eneny's forces at various points and, this could be done only by the officers in command.

After a consultation General Hancock said the Court was disposed to permit the summoning of witnesses from the other side, provided they had any essential testimony to give, and provided their number was reduced to as few as possible. Finally summonses were issued for Munford, Corse, Mayo and W. J. Denslow, of Brooklyn, who in 1865.

By this table it may be seen that in May, 1877, very little rain fell—only $6_{100}$ of an inch. The roins, however, light as they were, were very evenly distributed over the month, occurring on May 1, 8, 9, 10, 16, 17, 21, 22, 25, 26 and 30. The average rainfall for May, from 1869 to 1879 inclusive, has been 265_100 inches. It was stated with authority at the Department of Public Works that the drouth had not affected the supply of water in the reservoirs, and that there was water enough to supply the city for several months to come.

MR. BEECHER ON POVERTY AND RICHES

Mr. Beecher, at Plymouth prayer-meeting last night, referred to the burial of Caleb Barstow whose death was mentioned in The Tribune yesterday and whose widow is a member of Plymouth Church. He said that Mr. Barstow had been connected with some of the most enterprising and successful firms in New-York, and had amassed a large fortune; and yet he died an absolute pauper, and dependent upon his friends. He was open-hearted and gen-erous, but he was incautious and improvideut, and all his possessions ran out at that one hole. He was a man with a true Christian spirit. charity worked mischief in him as it would in anyone

Further on, Mr. Beecher said; "When Christ in veighed against wealth it was local and provincial and peculiar to that time, when there were no rich men but seoundrels and riches were gained by tax gathering and extortion. In the Old Testament riches were promised to men as the reward of right living. But in Palestine riches were the product of oppression and extortion. When I see how seamstresses are paid in New-York, and cigarmakers and others—30 or 40 cents for making a dozen shrits, and 35 or $4 a week for twelve hours' work a day—I say: 'How hardly shall rich men enter the kingdom of heaven—those who make money at the sacrifice of the health, lives and comfort of men.' Where wealth is made legitimately, it is not only not wicked, and God blesses it. The trouble is that men want to be rich suddenly. I have known rich men who were not worth more than the leather bag they; carried their money in. They were mere pockets." cultar to that time, when there were no rich men but
